

"I will not be subjugated"

Assumptions:

- 1) By continuing to pound on the officer rather than fleeing, once the upper hand was gained, he has clearly demonstrated himself to be a "goblin".
- 2) The officer risking her life by tackling him instead of waiting for backup or drawing and repeating the order freeze suggests he is both desperately wanted and of some value alive.
- 3) I have already scanned the store for accomplices.
- 4) Observations confirm that if it takes a big, strong guy very long to overpower the female officer and then only occasionally getting a punch in, his hand to hand skills aren't very good.

Actions:

- 1) Have the nearest (to me) person (preferably a checker if possible) call 911 and instruct them to indicate that there is an officer down receiving a beating and to give a description of me as the good guy helping.. If they don't have a phone, hand them mine.
- 2) If possible jump him from the rear and choke him out.
- 3) If not, draw while moving to cover and order him off the officer. If he doesn't comply, shoot him off of her, unless the officer indicates that she still needs him alive for some strange reason.
- 4) Scan for a fire extinguisher to hose him in the face with or anything that could be used as a weapon (mop handle for thrusting; Soda/beer cans or bottles to hurl at him).
- 5) Consider engaging in foot-to-hand contact.

--Mark Baur